

Jack's train

Written by eileen

Wednesday, 26 November 2008 02:30 -

Jack convinced me to get the coveted battery container and screwdriver out of the Jack-proof cupboard to put some in his remote control car. After fixing the car Jack was not willing to relinquish his prize so I let him play with them for a bit. I was out of the room while he was playing and he came and got me to show me his 'train' - he had lined up all the large batteries in a row as carriages.