

Little Batter

Written by eileen

Tuesday, 25 July 2006 00:00 - Last Updated Friday, 14 November 2008 23:19

Things are going well here and Jack is becoming more and more aware of the world. He has just started to get into batting at things which is not the most impressive feat but quite significant in terms of what has to click into place in his little brain in order for him to start doing it.